Forecast for Monday 08 Nov 2021

Weather: A cloudy day with extensive cloud obscuring views from even modest tops, especially in the west. The odd spot of rain and drizzle in morning will become more persistent and likely heavier at times in the afternoon.

Chance of cloud free mountain/hill tops above 800m: Nil to 20%, with best chance in the east.

Visibility: Moderate visibility with occasionally good view below cloud, but will be poor at times in rain and drizzle. Views will generally be very poor at height with cloud generally restricting views above 500m, but above 300m at times in the west, especially during afternoon heavy drizzle.

Meteorologist's View

Generally mild and rather humid. Limited views for much of the day, and near zero from many tops. Chance of very isolated gusts reaching gales across high ridges after dark.

Forecast for Tuesday 09 Nov 2021

Weather: Perhaps drier for a time early morning. However another cloudy and damp day follows, with areas of cloud obscuring hills, and occasional rain or drizzle. A longer spell of rain in the afternoon and likely heavy for a time, before gradually and erratically clearing in evening.

Maximum wind: Southwesterly 30mph gust 40mph easing through the morning to Westerly 10-15mph

Chance of cloud free mountain/hill tops above 800m: 10%, becoming 40% in evening.

Visibility: Moderate to occasionally poor views at low levels due to rain or drizzle, but very poor above 300m, with extensive cloud. Some clearer spells could allow good views during the evening, mainly northwest.

Temperature: Valleys: Plus 11 Celsius
At 800m: Plus 7 Celsius
Freezing level: Above the summits.
